

WEST VIRGINIA WILL PAY.

Congressman From That State Confident Mandate of Supreme Court Will be Met.

Richmond, June 21.—The Washington correspondent of the Times-Dispatch writes:

West Virginia will not defy the Supreme Court of the United States and will pay at the proper time the $12,394,000 judgment rendered against it in the Virginia debt litigation, according to a statement of a prominent West Virginia Congressman in Washington.

"The intelligent and law-abiding people of West Virginia realize that the Supreme Court cannot be defied," said this Congressman "My State was a party to the suit in the Supreme Court, and as the verdict is against it, the money will be paid. Too much prominence should not be given to the talk that the State will defy the Supreme Court and compel compulsory methods of collecting the money."

"I hear a good deal of favorable talk of paying the debt off at one time by levying a tax on corporations, coal, oil and gas. Governor Hatfield favored a tax on coal, oil and gas, but was not able to bring the Legislature around to his way. Now with the necessity of raising money to meet the judgment of the Supreme Court, I believe the tax on coal, oil and gas must come."

"Of course, we could issue bonds to pay off the obligation, but the sentiment, so far as I can gather, is for raising the money by taxation and pay off the old debt at once. Our Constitution provides we can issue bonds only for the purpose of taking our share of the old Virginia State debt."

There have been sent out of West Virginia many statements, indicating a warlike attitude on the part of that Commonwealth against the Supreme Court on account of the debt case decision. The Congressman quoted declares that this impression is wrong and that West Virginia will obey the decree of the court and pay the judgment in due time without compelling the Supreme Court to resort to drastic methods for its collection.

ALLEGED GERMAN CRUELTY

Again Asserted That Teutons Practice Crucifixion.

London, June 21.—A bandsman, lying wounded in the No. 2 Hospital at Exeter, brings back with him a terrible tale of German atrocities. He declares, in a sworn statement taken by and in the presence of James Owen, mayor of Exeter, that one day between May 1 and 5 he was detailed to do duty as a stretcher-bearer with his battalion, which was advancing on Hill No. 60, southeast of Ypres.

After he had assisted in carrying back several wounded men of his own company, a sergeant ordered him to accompany another group to go and look for casualties to the left of where his battalion was advancing. He says of the scene which he witnessed: "We passed an old barn about fifty yards distant. On the door of the barn we saw two men fastened, faces outward. Their arms were outstretched. I thought that there were nails through their hands, but some of my companions declare that there were big spikes driven through their palms."

"Their legs did not seem to be fastened and their heads hung down toward their chests. We could hardly see the faces but the men appeared to have been killed only recently, as the flesh was not yet discolored."

"They were dressed in khaki. I do not know to what regiment they belonged. They looked as if there had been a fire under one of them, for his clothes were all charred and blackened and there was a heap of cinders beneath. However, our sergeant would not permit us to approach any closer, because there was more work to be done further on."

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.

CARDINALS WIN

Trim The Braddocks 9 to 6 in a Great Game

The large crowd of fans who journeyed out to the Cardinal Baseball Park yesterday were well repaid for their time by witnessing one of the best and most exciting baseball games seen in this city during the year. The Braddocks have visited our town for about three years and have always trounced the Cardinals and it was the same fighting bunch of ball players the home lads had to battle with Sunday afternoon.

Capt. Dug Merchant of the Cardinals selected Walter Allensworth for the pitching honors, and he performed for seven innings, when he was relieved by Eddie Thompson, Melvin Jones was behind the bat. Merchant, Lynn, Bauer, McBride, Snowden, Lynch, and Joe Owens all worked well together, made fine plays at times, and were the wrecking crew who helped to side track the Braddocks by the score 9 to 6. Manager Goodfellow Moore of the Braddocks, turned loose in the beginning of the game "Smiling Boy" Spicer, and he toyed with the Cardinals for a time, but they solved his twisters and swatted a few timely balls that eventually brought in runs. Ruiz one of the Catholic University pitching stars finished the game after the retirement of Spicer, Moore, Sutton, Crowley, Royer, Stearns, and every member of the Braddocks played classy and gold edge baseball and although beaten by the Cardinals they need not take their defeat in any but a good natured manner, for all fans admire a baseball team that tries hard to win no matter whether they lose or not. The fans of Alexandria are thanked for their attendance and support yesterday and the Cardinals promise them many more good games during the season if they continue their patronage.

NO EVIDENCE SECURED.

Little Light Shed on Sender of Examination Papers at Annapolis.

Annapolis, June 21.—The court of inquiry which is investigating conditions connected with the conduct of examinations at the Naval Academy has been in session for two weeks, and there has been no evidence before it that sheds any light on the sender of the papers to Midshipman James E. Moss, of the third class, which afterwards proved to be the examinations for all classes in modern languages.

These papers were contained in a plain envelope, which, without a stamp, was dropped in a mail box within the academy limits and delivered to Moss, who insists that he did not know who sent them or suspect that they were papers of examinations which were to be given. So far there has been nothing to indicate anything about the mysterious sender.

There has been a flat failure to produce evidence which would be sufficient in a civil court to support the contention that the seven midshipmen must have known that these papers were the actual questions, which were to be asked at a coming examination. Every midshipman who has testified, and they include the class presidents and other midshipmen of the best type, has stated that they would not have considered them so under the circumstances, and there has been proof of the possible good faith of Moss and the other midshipmen who saw or used the papers.

Two witnesses, one a professor in the department, and the other a midshipman who had actually taken the examination, made laughable failures when called upon to tell just what some of these examination papers were.

Midshipman V. O. Clark was shown the examination first prepared for the first class, but withdrawn, when it was found that a copy had disappeared. He insisted that it was the examination that he had actually taken, and could hardly be convinced otherwise, though given ample time to examine it and think about it.

In view of this state of the evidence, there is general interest in the developments of the coming week, which may bear upon the identity of the person who dropped the envelope addressed to Moss in a mail box within the academy limits.

Information for Lung Sufferers

The makers of Eckman's Alternative will be pleased to send reports of recoveries from tuberculosis and a booklet of interest to sufferers, with information about diet and fresh air. Investigate this case—2141 Susquehanna Ave., Phila., Pa. My Dear Sir:—For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs, and later I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was left with a frightful hacking cough, which no medicine I had taken could alleviate. It was at this time, March, 1902, that I started taking Eckman's Alternative. In a short time my cough was gone and I was pronounced well. I cannot speak too highly for the good it has done." (Abbreviated.)

(Signed) HOWARD L. KLOTZ, Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and up-building the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs.
